UNDER THE DEED OF GIFT. TERMS ON WHICH THE AMERICA CUP MUST BE HELD IF WON.

The chief point in the letters to Earl Dunraven and the Royal Yacht Squadron, made public this morning, is that if the challenger wins the America Cup must be held under the new Deed of Gift, dated Oct. 23, 1887. In the previous correspondence between the New York Yacht Club and the Royal Yacht Squadron this "new condition," as it is called on the other side, threatened at one time to prevent a race. The new Deed of Gift refers to some minor clauses and changes which the judgment of the Cup Committee deemed advisable, and which are fair and sportsmanlike in every particular. As Lord Dunraven chal-lenged with the understanding that the same lenged with the understanding that the same rules were to apply as in the cases of the Genesta, Galatea and Thiatle, it was decided by the America Cup Committee to sail the present race under the old conditions; but if the challenger wing the new Deed of Gift is to take effect. In his letter of May 29 to Earl Dunraven, Chairman Smith says;

You will see that the New York Yacht Club.

You will see that the New York Yacht Club-ould consent to no other arrangement for a could consent to no other arrangement for a context, which would leave any questions open concerning the conditions under which the cup should be held if won by the challengers. The "other strangement" alluded to is the acceptance of the new Deed of Gift. It does not seem probable that the Royal Yacht Squadron will object so strenuously to the new condition to apply in case the Valkyrie wins as to prevent a race.

AN APPEAL FOR KEMMLER.

Lawyer Bourke Cockran Will Argue for a

A stay of proceedings seems to be in store for Murderer William Kemmler, sentenced by Judge Childs to be killed by electricity during the week of June 24, 1889.

Lawyer W. Bourke Cockran has been retained

Lawyer W. Bourke Cockran has been retained by Kemmler's lawyer, Charles W. Hatch, to argue an appeal.

This appeal, as THE EVENING WORLD reporter was informed by Mr. Cockran this morning, will be based on section 5, article 1, of the Bill of Rights of this State, which forbids the infliction of cruel and unusual punishment.

There was no proof, socording to Mr. Cockran, that death by electricity would be instantaneous, and the prisoner might be tortured for hours before death ensued.

A number of electrical experts will be summoned at the appeal.

They Will Get Their Pay. The rival Boards in Jersey City have come to an agreement in regard to the firemen and po-licemen's pay-roll, and the city guardians will receive their pay.

BROOKLYN'S SUNDAY-SCHOOLS TURN OUT TEN ARMIES OF LITTLE ONES.

The Signal Given by the Penling of 150 Bells This Merning—To Be Reviewed by ex-President Cleveland—A Grand Stand at Clinton and Willoughby Avenues— Crowds of Oslankers.

At 11 o'clock this morning the bell at the City Hall, Brooklyn, and 150 church bells in the City of Churches rang out in unison.

The great peal from 150 steeples rolled across the city over ten miles of streets and traffic.

This great chorus of bells was to remind the Sunday-school children that this is the day for their great parade. Sixty thousand smiling and happy Sunday-school children will march through the streets in holiday dress, with banners and music.

There will be ten grand divisions marching

There will be ten grand divisions marching simultaneously in ten different districts.

The largest corps of Sunday-school children will be the Prospect Park Division, in which thirty schools and 14,000 children will be in line. It entered Prospect Park Division, in which thirty schools and 14,000 children will be in line. It entered Prospect Park at 2,15, and will begin to march at 3,15.

It will march by the Mayor and the President of the Board of Education and many other distinguished people.

A stand has been put up at the intersection of Clinton and Willoughby avenues, and here ex-President Cleve and will review the Clinton Avenue Division of 9,000 children.

A military band will play at the stand at 2,30 o clock. Preceded by the Twenty-third Regiment band, the procession will march through Clinton avenue from Willoughby to Gates. It will comprise twenty-one Sunday-schools. The other divisions are: Eastern Division, 18 schools, 7,500 scholars. Parade route—Bushwick avenue, from Kossuth place to Woodbine street.

Brooklyn Heights Division, 19 schools, 8,000 scholars. Parade route—Clinton street, from State to Fulton. The Plymouth Church Sunday-school will lead the procession.

New York Avenue Division, 11 schools, 3,000 scholars. Parade route—Macon street, from Marcy avenue to Throop.

Tompkins, Park Division, 8 schools, 5,800 scholars. Parade route, Willoughby avenue, from Marcy to Sunner.

South Brooklyn Division, four schools, 1,300 scholars. Parade route, Fourth and Third avenues to Grove street.

Ocean Hill Division, nine schools, 4,000 scholars. ocean Hill Division, nine schools, 4, 000 scholrs. Carroll Park Division, fifteen schools, 5,000 cholars. Parade route, Clinton street and First scholars. Parads route, Clinton street and First place.

Bedford Division, fifteen schools, 8, 725 scholars. Parade route, Gates avenue from Franklin to Grand, through Grand to Putnam.

Reviewing stands have been built for reviewing the processions, and were bright this morning with flags and bunting.

At 2 o'clock children began trooping to all the Protestant Churches in the city. At 2.30 religious exercises, consisting of singing, praying and reading the Scriptures, began in all the churches. At the close of the services the children took their banners and formed in line in the streets. The many Bunday-schools were formed into one great army of children.

HIDING HER NAME IN SHAME. A HANDSOME AND BEJEWELLED YOUNG WOMAN ACCUSED OF THEFT.

A well-dressed, handsome and refined looking oung woman is locked up in a cell in the Jefferson Market Prison charged with stealing a pocketbook from another woman in a Sixth avenue dry-goods store.

When arrested she vehemently denied the allegation, but appearances were against her, and she is held for trial at the Court of Special Sessions next Friday.

When asked to give her name she cried and 'I won't give my right name. I am innocent "I won't give my right name. I am innocent of the charge, but the disgrace of being arrested would kill my husband, who is ill with consumption. Put me down as Mary Jones, "and as Mary Jones she was entered on the prison books. She said she lived in Brooklyn.

Her right name is believed to be Mary Hart, and if so her husband is said to be a well-to-do pumber, who lives in East New York.

Mrs. Catharine Northrope, of 94 Clinton place, is the complainant.

To an Evenine World preporter this morning she said: "I was shopping yesterday and went into Koch's store, at Twentieth street and Sixth avenue.

Nothing was found, and Mrs. Northrope was going to apologize, until another employee in the store found the empty pocketbook in the airshaft of the toilet room.

A few minutes later $50 in bills was found on a shed in front of an open window which Mrs. Jones had to pass on her way to a toilet-room.

Then she was arrested. While going to court. Mrs. Northrope says Mrs. Jones pleaded with her not to disgrace her and Mrs. Northrope said she would not press the complaint if she got the balance of her money.

Thereupon, in presence of Officer Kemp, Mrs. Jones handed over $2.5, which, in addition to the $50 already recovered, made $75. and Mrs. Northrope was willing to let the matter drop.

At Jefferson Market Court, however, Justice Ford was not, and after hearing all the fabts he held Mrs. Jones in $3.00 bail for trial.

Her husband, it was said this morning, visited her last night and promised to have bail for her this afternoon.

Mrs. Jones wears a profusion of diamond jewelry, and columns are about equally divided as to her innocence or guilt.

She is twenty-five years old and very handsome. She positively declines to see reporters.

Davis said that Tumbletv met him on Fifth avenue, near Clinton place, about 10,30 o'clock last night, and engaged him in conversation which led to his calling Tumblety a vile name.

Thereupon the doctor broke his cane across Davis's face.

The latter ran one way into the arms of Capt. Bregan, of the Mercer street station.

and antecedents are unknown to any save himself.

He was dressed very shabbily this morning, and claimed that Davis had assaulted him first after he had refused to give the young man money. He showed a book nurporting to give an account of himself as a physician.

On the outside was printed that he had references from Gen. Sherman. Alexander Hudnut, S. B. Morse, the late Emperor Napoleon, Abraham Lincoln, Horace Greeley and other famous men. These alleged references were printed in the book, but amounted to nothing. They were merely such letters as the gentlemen might write in response to an effusive and uncalled-for epistle from the doctor in the first place.

He lives at 82 Clinton place.

COL. FELLOWS ON THE STAND

HE DENIES TEMPLEMAN'S STORY THAT HE SHARED WILKINSON'S BILL.

In the Templeman trial to-day Counsellor William F. Howe cross-examined Arthur B. Wilkinson and shared in his bill of $5,000.

son and shared in his bill of $5,000.

Templeman's young sisters and his anxious mother were in Judge Martine's Court-room and were auxious listeners to the proceedings.

'Isn't it a fact," asked Mr. Howe. "that you told Templeman a year ago, on Kerr's former trial, that inspector Hyrnes and Col. Fellows were in a scheme with Wikinson."

'No, sir. I didn's know Templeman a year ago."

"No, sir. I didn't know rempleman a year ago."
Then Col. Fellows took the witness oath like any other citizen.
He said he first saw James E. Wilkinson toward the close of the late Kerr trial, but Wilkinson had been employed by the District Attorney's office all through the boodle trials these past four years. He had never been in Wilkinson's office and didn't know where it was located. He approved Wilkinson's bill for his services.

"Did you have or have you had any interest in that or any other bill of Wilkinson, or have you ever received, directly or indirectly, any consideration from Wilkinson or any ore else for any act of yours in connection with this bill?"

THE STRONG STATEMENT MADE BY WOOD-RUFF IN THE CRONIN CASE.

ISPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD. CHICAGO, June 5,—As the Coroner's investiga-tion of the murder of Dr. Cronin proceeds the public interest increases, and there are rumors that startling developments will be brought out within the next twenty-four hours.

Thus far the evidence is generally regarded as pointing very strongly towards the complicity of Alexander Sullivan in the plot to assassinate The force of detectives employed to keep a watch upon him has been increased, and it is said that he is to be arrested before the investigation proceeds much further.

The suspension of Capt. Schaack immediately after his testifying before the Coroner is the principal topic of the town.

Capt. Schaack has been suspected all along of having used his influence to delay any investigation of Dr. Cronin's mysterious disappearance, and the way in which he was cornered at the inquest made such an impression upon the authorities that his suspension, which will probably be followed by his discharge, was ordered by Mayor Cregier.

The most sensational part of his testimony was that in which he described an interview he had with Woodruff, the man who drove the bloody trunk to Lakeview.

Woodruff told him that one afternoon while he was in a saloon in Division street with King and Fairburn a strange man came in and took King to one side.

He displayed a big roll of bank-notes and gave King a handfull. Fairburn also shared in the division of the cash. He was afterwards informed that this man was "Aleck Sullivan, the great lawyer." The notorious Dr. Francis Tumblety, who said that he is to be arrested before the investigreat lawer.

The majority of people in this city now believe that Sullivan was much more closely connected with the butchery of Dr. Cronin than was at first supposed, and the startling nature of the testimony of Capt. Schaack is really more damaging to him than anything which has yet come out.

damaging to him than anything which has yet come out.

It is even thought that Capt. Schaack has implicated himself in the crime. He is well known to have been an intimate friend of the Sullivan crowd, and the gross neglect of which he admits that he was guilty in his management of the Cronin cade is convincing against him in the cross of most people.

The tact that ex-Police Capt. L. R. Buckley, a prominent member of the Ciapt.na-Gael and of the camp to which Dr. Cronin belonged, was in conference all last evening with the police authorities, has given rise to the report that he has imparted to them important information regarding the conspiracy.

One rumor says that he knew and has disciosed to them the entire details of the plot, and that the authorities will act upon this information at once. The city is in a state of feverish anticipation.

Today it is claimed that the relice have found on. Po-day it is claimed that the police have found to-day it is claimed that the ponce have found the expressman who took the murderers' gords to the Carlson cottage; and through him they believe they can trace and arrest the men-simons and Williams, who rented the cottage. Despite reports to the contrary, these men are thought to be still in Chicago.

Even some of the Governors are weakening and there was a story told on the street this morning to the effect that the tickers would be running again this afternoon. This was denied, however, by the officers of the Stock Exchange who say that there has been no change whatever in the situation since yesteriay so far as coming to any definite arrangement is concerned.

"It is a good thing that this happened in dull times." said a well-known Stock Exchange broker this morning to a reporter of Tag Evenno World.

"If the market had been active, especially on a downward turn, it would have been an easy matter for a half dozen determined brokers to get up a panie in the street that has never before been witnessed."

Orders were plenty this morning, and no Stock Exchange quotations were posted. The quotations made in the Consolidated were sent out over their own "tickers," for which orders are coming in rapidly.

A story that James C. Carter, the counsel of the Board of Governors of the Stock Exchange, was the originator of the scheme to put out the tickers was denied to-day at Mr. Carter's office. The Governors dec ded upon the step after merely asking Mr. Carter's advice as to whether it could be done legally. He said that it could. the Stock Exchange, who say that there has
